What's in a Renovation?

The Sunset Inn & Suites' $2 million renovation is complete.

Here at Sunset, renovation has a unique meaning. It means oversized lounge chairs eloquently placed in spacious suites - some of the most spacious in Vancouver. It means convenience - full kitchens and separate bedroom and living areas. The comfort of home from the convenience of, well, wherever you want to go in Vancouver.

Renovation, at Sunset, means transforming what was once a comfortable resort into a relaxing modern oasis. Find yourself amidst natural woods, sprawled out on the plush bedding of your king-sized bed.

Renovation means something for everyone - a continental breakfast served daily for the guest in a hurry. A full-service fitness room for the athlete. And a Jacuzzi tub for - let's face it - everyone.

Renovation means the smile on our guests' faces as they snuggle up to 300+ thread count sheets and duvets made for royalty. And most of all, renovation thread count sheets and duvets made for royalty. And, most of all, renovation means the little things - the things that slip right under our noses. Individual details - the perfect placemat; a luxurious ice bucket; the convenience of gourmet in-room coffee.

And with the renovations, we still have the same great location - just steps away from Robson Street, English Bay, and Stanley Park, where guests will find the majority of Vancouver's attractions at their fingertips.

Shopping. Robson Street is the Fifth Avenue of Canada. Step into a hot boutique shop and carouse the latest fashions from the hottest designers in the world.

Dining. Delicious ethnic cuisine which will tempt your palate into extra innings. Culinary talent from all over the world congregates in Vancouver to bring guests a legendary food experience.

Nightlife. Dancing under the stars to an old jazz standard or living it up at the chicest new bar in town.

Vancouver. It's all here.

Experience it with Sunset.

What's Happening in Vancouver

As always, there's plenty of activities on the buzz in the wonderful metropolis of Vancouver. Here's just a little sampling of the goings-on in this happy Canadian city.

- Through March 23, 2008 - Fashion Fabulous at the Vancouver Museum. You'll want to bust out the old furs when you explore this exhibit, which focuses on the chic inventiveness of "The Beautiful Era" of fashion.
- Through January 1, 2008 - PRO-AM COMEDY JAM. Are you in desperate need of a mid-week fix? Is Comedy Central just not cutting it? PRO-AM COMEDY JAM kicks it up a notch with a line-up which is notorious for drawing the laughs out of you.
- Ongoing - Vancouver Symphony Orchestra. See one of the finest metropolitan assemblies perform pieces which will move and inspire.
- October 24 to November 3 - Living Shadows: the Mary Pickford Story. Enjoy this powerful play, described by one critic as "a sublime sock in the stomach". Learn about Mary Pickford, whose story narrates one woman's determination, survival and success in the silent film era.
